The Builders Exchange has implemented measures developed in consultation with local and federal public health authorities to ensure our protocols help you feel safe and comfortable while attending onsite events and meetings.

WHO: The safety and security of our BX members, staff, customers and guests remain our highest priority.

WHAT: The BX monitors all state best practices to encourage social distancing, safe food handling, clean training rooms and meeting spaces, as well as COVID-19 large gathering concerns.

HOW: The BX Team has implemented enhanced safe-operating protocols including, but not limited to:

- Daily self-monitoring of staff health and well-being while enforcing “stay-at-home if you are sick” policies.
- Maintaining and monitoring stringent housekeeping practices and protocols, more rigorous routine cleaning and disinfecting of high-traffic/high-touch surfaces including lobbies, handrails, washrooms, doors/doorknobs, audiovisual equipment and other elements of the onsite event environment.
- Use of industrial-grade disinfectants and cleansers.
- Continuously adjusting food and beverage service in accordance with current food safety practices and social distancing protocols.
- Enforcing social distancing guidelines with meeting room sets, registration lines, food distribution and general gathering areas.
- Increased deployment and availability of antibacterial hand sanitizers, wipes, and face masks.
- Increased signage onsite reminding event attendees to wash hands frequently, keep hands away from their face, the wearing of masks, practice safe social distancing and the locations of medical care resources.

Information changes often in response to this pandemic, and the BX is committed to updating our approach to address the constantly changing environment.

The BX values the support and feedback of our members! We appreciate your professionalism, patience and understanding during these truly extraordinary times.
